

The Phi Centre

Our mission

CREATING A GATHERING PLACE FOR ART

The mission of the Phi Centre is to make art accessible to as many people possible and to foster encounters and exchanges of all kinds between artists, the work and the audience. By creating a gathering place for art, Phi also makes art essential.

The Phi Centre: A place for bold diversity

The Phi Centre is such a diverse arts centre that bold only begins to describe it.

The Phi Centre is a versatile space with venues that adapt to accommodate the event at hand: launches, conferences, seminars, screenings, exhibitions, concerts, performances, interactive installations. It has creative studios and production suites equipped with the latest technology for all artistic needs. It's a multifunctional centre where art can express itself in its various forms. It's a space where people can exchange, learn, discover, launch, shoot, record, and more.

The Phi Centre is an initiative of Phi and its founder, Phoebe Greenberg. Phi's mission is to provide the public with excellence in all types of art from every possible horizon. Phi is also at the head of three of the most dynamic entities in the art world: Phi-Music, Phi-Films and Phi-Creation.
